1st October 2007 – for immediate release

Rob Bruce, Chairman of Northern Branch PIG, hosts annual dinner

Rob Bruce, Chairman of the Northern Branch of the Pipeline Industries Guild will be hosting the 44th Northern Branch PIG dinner at the Majestic Hotel in Harrogate on 2nd November, 2007.

The annual dinner is the longest running regional annual dinner and will be attended by some 400 people from across the UK. Each year the incumbent chairperson elects a charity to be supported through donations from the attendees. Rob has chosen the Starlight Foundation, a charity that provides holidays, treats and special events for terminally ill children.

Rob comments: "I was voted in as Chairman of the branch earlier this year. It has been a great pleasure to take the helm and arranging the dinner has been a lot of fun. We hope to have record attendance and I very much look forward to seeing many of our clients, partners, colleagues and friends in Harrogate. The Rhead Group has been a dedicated supporter of the activities of the guild for many years and the encouragement and support that I received to be Chairman has been great.

We hope to make a record collection for my chosen charity and we are aiming to raise over £4,000 concludes Rob."

In addition to hosting the annual dinner, Rob's duties as chairman involve him attending all the other branch dinners (eight in all), spread throughout the year. The Northern Branch also arrange a number of other social and business events including a spring ball, a go karting day, a golf day and various technical briefings and training evenings over the 12 months.

Rob Bruce heads up the Risk Management Practice for the Rhead Group. The practice specialises in the use of quantitative risk management in project financial and schedule risk; inspection and maintenance optimization; and safety risks and QRA.
